COUNTY'S ALL TIME DROWNING RECORD OF 23 IS EQUALLED

Father Sinks Yesterday in Long Lake Attempting to Save Baby

In an attempt to save the life of his 2-year-old daughter, Fred J. Taylor, 44, of 2112 N. Major St., Chicago, Wednesday, became the county's twenty-third drowning victim this season. The previous all-time record of drownings set in 1929 has been equalled, with the vacation season not yet ended.

Taylor, a foreman of the engraving department of the W. F. Hall Printing Company of Chicago, had taken his two children, Nancy, 2, and Jean, 6, and Betty Hall, 6 for a boat ride in Long Lake.

When little Nancy had clambered over the side of the boat, Taylor dived after her, but apparently was seized with cramps as he entered the water. The baby was recovered by Dr. Edward J. Krump of Berwyn who was fishing near by. He applied artificial respiration methods immediately, thus saving her life.

The body of Taylor could not be located.

Drowns Seeking Oar

Lawrence Buck, of 627 Ingleside avenue, Chicago, lost his life in Long Lake late Saturday evening, becoming the county's twenty-second drowning victim this season. His body was recovered by members of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department's rescue squad, Dick Altner and William Anderson.

Buck had been boat riding with his wife, Frances, and a friend. When the boat was about 500 feet from the shore, Buck decided to go for a swim but knocked an oar overboard in rolling over the side of the boat. According to his wife he swam for a minute or so and then started after the oar which was about twenty feet from the boat. He sank from sight while the women attempted to maneuver the boat closer to him with one oar. His wife made an attempt to rescue him but became exhausted.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest held at Strang's undertaking rooms, Antioch.

The drowning total now equals the all-time high record set in 1929 when 23 persons lost their lives in county waters. Most of the deaths have been a result of boating accidents and carelessness.

MOTORIST WRECKS FIRE HYDRANT; PUTS UP $100 FOR REPAIRS

Floyd Starr, Chicago garage owner, today deposited one hundred dollars with Police Magistrate J. C. James of Antioch, to cover the cost of repairing the fire hydrant, which was knocked from its moorings at the intersection of Main and Lake streets early today by Frank Machac, 1745 North Hancock avenue, Chicago.

Returning from Twin Lakes where Machac is a company with Gerald Starr, owner of the Ford car, and two others, the party paused in Antioch for lunch early this morning. Machac backed the car around intending to drive south when the car struck the hydrant. Officers Peterson and Brogan stopped the flow of water and placed the driver under arrest. He spent the remainder of the night in jail, but was released at noon today when the $100 for repairs was deposited. Magistrate James fined Machac three dollars and costs for reckless driving.

Permanent Officers Elected By Waterways Improvement Ass'n

Seek State Aid; Sorenson
Urges Clean-up of Desplaines River

Permanent officers of the Lake and McHenry County Waterways Improvement Association were elected Sunday at a meeting held in Kramer's boathouse at Fox Lake.

President of the group will be John R. Deussen of Fox Lake; first vice president, C. Kier Davis, McHenry; second vice president, Maj. James N. Bubna, Lake Villa; treasurer, C. K. Anderson, Antioch; and secretary, F. J. Duenger, Ingleside.

The organization was recently formed for the purpose of controlling the water levels throughout the lake region, and to seek special legislation by the state government for the improvement of inland waterways. Einar Sorenson expressed himself as confident that such legislation would be supported in Springfield.

Wants Desplaines Cleaned Up

Sorenson, state waterways inspector, also is urging a cleanup of the Desplaines River in Lake and northern Cook counties by federal relief workers under the direction of the state.

This would mean that a camp maintaining 500 unemployed workers would have to be established, according to Sorenson.

The river is much in need of improvement, as it has been used as a dumping ground for parts of wrecked cars, garbage, brush, wire. The channel, according to reports, is blocked in places by dead trees which have fallen into the river.

For some time the state sanitary water board has been demanding the villages in Lake and Cook counties cease dumping untreated sewage into the river. Swimming at the dams was forbidden this summer because of unsanitary conditions.

The stream, properly maintained, may be included among the beauty and recreational spots of the North Shore.

OVER 8,000 ATTEND REPUBLICAN PICNIC

C. Wayland Brooks Chief
Speaker; Party Candidates Introduced

In a stirring speech at the Republican picnic and rally at Round Lake Saturday, C. Wayland Brooks, Chicago, sounded the need for Republican congressmen in Washington to keep a check on the drastic Democratic policies and unlimited powers being given to the president.

Brooks spoke to 2,700 picnic guests present at that time during the afternoon. He is a candidate for congressman-at-large along with Milton Jones, who also was present.

Over 8,000 attended the picnic at various times during the day, according to Howard Scott, chairman of the county Republican central committee.

Among those introduced by Representative Richard J. Lyons, master of ceremonies, were William J. Stratton, candidate for state treasurer; Alderman Oscar Nelson, of Chicago; State Representative Elmer J. Snackenberg, Republican leader in the house; Milton Jones, candidate for congressman-at-large; Ralph Church, candidate for congress in this district, and the county candidates who were: L. A. Doglittle, for sheriff; Lew A. Hendee, for county clerk; John R. Bullock, for probate clerk; Judge F. L. Persons, for county judge; and Allen J. Nelson, for county treasurer.

Judge Martin C. Decker, in Tamarack, Mich., was absent, as was W. C. Petty, county superintendent of schools, who now is in charge of the division of boys at the State Fair School at Springfield.

Dancing at Renehan's Pavilion during the evening drew a large crowd. Many prizes were awarded during the day, in various contests which had been arranged.

County Dairymen Ask Price Increase

High Cost of Feed Results in Action by Pure Milk
Members

An increase in the producers' milk price is being asked by Lake County farmer members of the Pure Milk Association and northern Illinois dairy farmers because of the high price of feed and forage.

Hay and grain crops were exceedingly small where they were not total failures, and the corn crop will be smaller than usual. Many farmers already have been forced to have hay shipped in at the rate of $22 per ton. To meet this high cost of feed, farmers are asking an increase in price from $2.25 to $2.75 per hundred for fluid first class milk. This would make the blended price paid the farmer about $2.50 per hundred, varying with the production of the individual farmer.

It is expected that the retail price in Chicago and North Shore towns would be boosted one cent per quart should the proposed increase be granted.

Expect Numerous Entries At Annual Farmers' Picnic

The annual Lake County Farmers' picnic and 4-H Club Round-up, to be held Tuesday, August 28, at Renehan's Park, Round Lake, promises to be one of the best in years, according to those in charge of events.

Boys exhibiting livestock in the 4-H exhibits have been asked to have their registrations in by tomorrow. Response thus far indicates that exhibits will be numerous and worthwhile. The exhibits will be judged during the morning of August 28, with the girls' demonstration teams competing in the afternoon.

Among the featured events are 8 ball games, a Model T Ford race, and various contests and stunts.

A "shopping circuit" around which shoppers could ride for four hours on one bus fare has been proposed in Fort Worth, Texas.

The average altitude of Avery county, North Carolina, is slightly more than 8,000 above sea level.

CO-OPERATION BENEFITS ALL

John D. Miller, President of the National Cooperative Council, recently pointed out that the farmers' cooperative marketing movement does not mean the elimination of the efficient "middleman." On the contrary, progress on the part of the cooperatives will likewise lead to progress on the part of concerns which buy from farmers and are engaged in processing and marketing.

The reason for this is that cooperation does away with the old system of non-competitive buying, replacing it with a more rational and economical system which places all concerned on a fairer competitive level. The middleman knows that no other concern can buy at lower prices, and, to quote Mr. Miller, "those buying from farmers at competitive prices will each endeavor to attain the highest possible degree of efficiency in order to meet competition in selling, the final result being beneficial to farmers, consumers, manufacturers, and distributors alike."

In other words, agricultural cooperation is gradually bringing order out of chaos. It is eliminating needless waste. By regulating the movement of farm products, so that each market may be adequately but not over-supplied, it is doing much toward solving the problem of surpluses. It is assuring the public a constant and certain supply of the highest grade food products at a fair price. And everyone concerned will eventually reap a share of the harvest from the seed the cooperatives are now sowing.

THE POOREST GAMBLE

Would you gamble $17,000,000 against one dollar? You wouldn't, of course, no matter how good you thought your chance of winning. At those odds, no wager could possibly be worth the risk you would take.

It is very possible, however, that you take an even poorer bet than that every day—that you accept, consciously or unconsciously, life's poorest gamble.

If you are 35 years old, you will, on the average, live for 17,000,000 more minutes. To save one little minute, thousands of automobile drivers risk losing the entire 17,000,000 minutes that are coming to them. They take that risk whenever they drive excessively fast, whenever they cut in and out of traffic, whenever they pass other cars on hills or curves, whenever they are guilty of one of the many acts of carelessness that may cause an accident.

Each year in this country about 33,000 people make the 17,000,000-to-one wager with death—and lose. Hundreds of thousands of others are injured. Millions sustain needless property damage, estimated to reach a total of over a billion dollars.

Think of the odds next time you are tempted to take a chance while driving. Remember that the automobile you are operating is one of the most potentially dangerous of all weapons, both to others and yourself. Then ask yourself if that minute you might save is worth the gamble.

RECOVERY ENEMY NUMBER 1

The Louisville Courier Journal recently published a cartoon showing a frightened figure of a man, labeled "Taxpayer," walking along a dark street. Lurking in doorways, preparing to spring upon him, were a number of hold-up artists, named "Bureaucracy," "Waste," "Spoilsman," and "Political Expediency."

That cartoon is not at all far-fetched. So far as the average citizen is concerned, predatory taxation and ef-ficialism is Recovery Enemy Number 1—no highway-men ever lived who could equal their depredations. They take money that would otherwise be invested—and thus stifle purchasing power. They take money that would be spent for a thousand and one necessities and luxuries—and thus keep our commerce and trade in the doldrums.

Today government—federal, state and local—takes about 30 per cent of the national income, and some authorities place the percentage much higher than that. In other words, at least 30 cents out of every dollar you earn is not yours to spend. A great percentage of it goes to feed predatory tax eaters and officialism, either directly, through income, property, license and similar taxes, or indirectly, through hidden taxes on the things you wear and eat and use. It is lost to productive enterprise—to the businesses which provide jobs and opportunities for employment and investment, and which, if allowed to develop normally, would create new sources for taxation.

If the present trend continues, it won't be long until that 30 per cent becomes 40, 50 or 60 per cent. And when that time comes, we will all gradually become wards of government—private industry will have been literally starved to death, confiscated by taxation, and the tax-fed bureaucrat will reign supreme.

DRIVE FOR VOTES BEGINS

The great drive for November votes is beginning—and both major parties are throwing themselves into the job of getting them with more force than they have shown for many years.

The Republicans, who have been dormant for the last year and a half, are emerging. Definite, reasoned opposition to the Roosevelt program is springing up. In a recent magazine article Senator Dickinson, who proposed Herbert Hoover at the convention which nominated him, made these definite criticisms of the present administration: That the Democratic party has been leading us toward a dictatorship; that its rate of expenditure of public funds, if continued, will result in national bankruptcy; that it is destroying individualism and private initiative; that a return to Republican principles is essential to the preservation of the constitutional government and our ancient traditions. Mr. Dickinson's points are generally in complete accord with those of Chairman Fletcher of the Republican Central Committee.

The Democratic party is not taking criticism "lying down." For example: Recently only two cabinet officers—Hull of the State Department and Perkins of the Labor Department—were in Washington. The rest of them were about the country, making speeches and looking things over. Less important officials, such as sub-cabinet members, were likewise in far places, and it would have been hard to find a state not visited by some Administration official. Gist of the talks made by these men is that the New Deal, for the most part, has been successful; that we are in the middle of the stream now and that changing horses would spell ruin; that if Mr. Roosevelt is permitted to carry on his policies, with full Congressional support, for two years more, he will succeed in bringing prosperity back.

The ordinary voter is obviously in a difficult position when it comes to making up his mind. He has no means of knowing how much recovery has actually been achieved—almost all the reports he receives are prejudiced in favor of one party or another. He is aware that neither party is above doctoring the facts to prove a point; that when election time rolls round, political considerations are paramount.

Most forecasts lead to the belief that the administration has lost considerable ground, but that it will still maintain control of both houses of the Congress. Main reason for that is Mr. Roosevelt's personal popularity—it is thought that millions of people who are fundamentally opposed to his policies will vote for him and for Democratic candidates because of his personal magnetism. It is a fact that sheer personality is one of the greatest assets any public man can have—and the November elections will show how potent Mr. Roosevelt's is.

See the "Companion" Electric Range

A companion to the G-E "Liftop" refrigerator is the new G-E electric range—one of the simplest, most compact ranges ever built. See it on display at your Public Service Store. You'll be delighted with the many features of this range which is priced at only $76.00. When bought in combination with the "Liftop" a special, reduced price applies. Ask about this offer.

For only ONE NICKEL

Five cents—the cost of a package of gum—will operate a washing machine, a vacuum cleaner, a percolator, an electric iron, a toaster, a waffle iron—all at one time—for one solid hour at the new 2c per kilowatt-hour portion of the electric rate, in effect after 17 kilowatt-hours per room have been used in the month. Other useful electrical devices also cost but a few pennies to operate. Take advantage of the new low rates—think what comfort, what convenience the use of labor-saving appliances will bring to your home.

THE General Electric "Liftop"—the latest triumph of research and engineering—brings the economy and convenience of electric refrigeration within the reach of the most modest income.

The G-E "Liftop" operates at a cost surprisingly low. It is powered with the famed G-E "sealed-in-steel" mechanism, has the same refrigeration principle as the world renowned G-E Monitor Top models. It operates so quietly you can scarcely hear it. It needs no attention—no oiling.

The "Liftop" is all steel, with one-piece stainless porcelain interior, glistening white Glyptal-baked enamel exterior. Equipped with sliding food rack and food basket. Two ice or dessert freezing trays. Will freeze 20 cubes—2 pounds of ice—at one time. The "Liftop" is compact, but storage capacity has not been sacrificed for the sake of compactness, as an inspection of the big, roomy interior will convince you.

See this revolutionary new-type refrigerator at your nearest Public Service Store. Ask about our easy payment plan which puts the "Liftop" in your home for only a small down payment, the balance monthly, the "little-by-little" way, on your Electric Service bill.

To cover interest and other costs, a somewhat higher price is charged for appliances sold on deferred payments.

The business increase was announced from the supreme offices of the society in Rock Island, Ill.

From January 1 to July 1, 1934, new insurance written by the society amounted to $12,807,795, while in the first six months of 1933 the total was $5,843,775.

Between January 1 and July 1, 1934, the society obtained 25,112 new members, whereas the corresponding period a year ago showed 9,674 new members. The new membership for the last six months is composed of 8,765 adults and 16,587 juveniles, and between January 1 and July 1, 1933, the division was 4,618 adults and 5,056 juveniles.

After a Lapse of 50 Years

By Mary Story Howard

Waukegan to Chicago

The nearest land office was in Chicago, and father had to make payments there, when due. Twice he walked, starting in the morning, and getting back the next morning about the same time, without sleep or rest. Yet with all this hard work and privations he was not able to keep out of debt. I think his neighbors were much better off. He and a Mr. Jewett bought a threshing machine together, and both worked very hard but I am sure were not successful, for a mortgage, then placed on the home, was never paid. In the meantime two more little ones had come to help with their little wants and seem to have been very welcome. There was real sorrow when the dear little girl was taken and a little grave made where he could see it at all times; there were no burying grounds then.

There had been a school started about 1847, in an old log-house directly west of us. T. B. Howard, who lived south of us, was the teacher; he, having a large family, thought they should be in school, and from that time until the spring of 1852, we had school some part of the year, usually not more than three months. I was always glad to be in school, and learned easily. This school house also served as a church, there being no other place; Methodist revival meetings were held here and were well attended. I sometimes wonder that the roof lasted so well, for the singing was loud and earnest, if not so very musical. There is nothing to take the place of those self-same songs, for they are today the favorite hymns, with the same old words; nothing tells the story so well. And the event of interest, and later of ridicule, was our spelling school; it is my sincere belief that those spelling schools made better spellers than any of the newer methods of teaching.

By the spring of 1852 my parents had become discouraged by debts and poor crops, and having heard for a few years glowing accounts of California, they made ready to undertake the long journey. Having no experience in traveling, but well used to hard fare, they faced the undertaking with plenty of courage, which was sorely tried many times. My mother's mother came on a visit from New York state, and she and others tried to persuade my parents it would be best to leave all, or part of the children, as others were doing, but they would not hear of it. So on the 29th of March we were ready to start. It was rather a warm day. It had been thawing a number of days. The roads were very heavy, and snowbanks were still plentiful to keep them in bad condition. We had breakfast in what had been our home; had our dinner at Mr. Drom's and went as far as Mrs. Brown's, now Trevor, and there spent the night. We had two yoke of good oxen, one wagon whose painted canvas cover was to shelter the family of seven and all our belongings, provisions included, and carried a small tent to protect a small sheet-iron stove. We traveled on to a small collection of houses east of Rockford, where a big snow storm caught us near night. Permission was given to stay in an old log-house, the family having moved into a new one, and plenty of wood, an old fashioned fire place, and straw for the oxen, made us very comfortable. The snow came down until it was almost impossible to travel, and we stayed there several days, one being April 3rd, my thirteenth birthday.

Naturally, the children would have liked better to have stayed in that old house until warmer weather but we had only commenced a long journey and must be moving.

We found terrible roads all through Illinois, and crossed the Mississippi river at a place called, I think, New Albany. I believe Iowa is called a very desirable place to live in but my recollection of it is anything but pleasant. Roads were all but impassable, with almost no bridges—not at all worth the name—and so many rapid, narrow streams where, if impossible to ford, there were the rudest kind of ferries; crossing either way was bad enough and was a new and terrifying experience for the children.

Cross River on Raft

In Iowa we fell in with some people by the name of Hennessey, from Brighton, Wisconsin, near home; they, too, were travelling with oxen, and we saw them often until we crossed the river at Omaha, or in fact, a few miles below, as we had been told we had better do. There were so many falling out at Omaha, living in tents, that some of them, with no thought of being careful, had contracted measles and small pox.

We found a crowd at the lower crossing and plenty of sick; with only one boat to take the many across, there was no little trouble. With whiskey to keep up the spirits of the crowd, there was quarrelling and fighting day and night. That being the last place that anything could be bought, we hastened to collect what we most needed for the rest of the long journey.

(To be continued next week.)

WOMEN'S PAGE

Woman's Heritage Today Includes A Knowledge of Makeup

Today a woman's make-up is as much a part of her costume as her hose. Just as she would not appear wearing an off shade pair of hose with her costume, so she should watch the effect of her makeup with her general appearance. Daily care in applying cosmetics is required.

There is one general rule that may be observed but need not be followed to the letter. Let the rouge follow the cheekbone up as far as the temple and inward no nearer the nose than a point parallel with the pupil of the eye. Your face may call for slight modulation in rouge placing strokes. It's to keep the rouge off the mid-cheek and further down, to keep it out and away from the nose that the general rule was constituted.

Why not take an hour off just for rouge practice? Have your removal cream (cleansing cream will do), your nice clean tissue remover and settle down for a good hour's study. Try the rouge back and farther back toward the hair line, up along the cheek bone, up over the temple, back toward the cheek edge, high up. Wipe it clean and begin again, just patting dab on no bigger than would come off a lipstick tip, then mold and meld the coloring into the skin until you get what looks like a really natural flush. If it won't work smoothly enough, dip the finger tip in the cream first and then spread the coloring. Often this gives just that thinning out to the rouge that is good.

Shape of Face a Factor

If your face is very narrow, say, try widening it by using color a bit heavy on the outer cheek edges. The wider the white area in the middle of the face, the better. The full round face, naturally, would be treated in reverse, the rouge would be brought in and the white area on the sides left untouched. There are a lot of tricks you can do with rouge when you get right down to business with your mirror and time for experimentation. The old trick of pinching the cheeks for the natural color and then getting rouge that shade still stands as good as any for color choice.

Now let's give a little thought to the eyes. In caring for the eyebrows you want to avoid that shaved line, as nothing gives such a hardened look to the face. Follow the natural curve of the brows and pluck out the unruly hairs. Brush with a tiny brush, first against the hairs, and then brush smoothly back into place. If tinting will improve them, use mascara or an eyebrow pencil, and if they stop rather abruptly you may continue them with the eye pencil, but let it be very delicately. Eye shadow should be put on lightly, along the lower part of the lid, and blended upward and out to the edge. It must be done evenly to achieve softness. Let the mascara you use match your lashes. Either liquid or paste may be used. Apply carefully, brushing the upper lashes upward and the lower lashes downward. Eyes need never look tired or old with the excellent eye baths and lotions available, which relieve strain. All eye makeup is of no avail if the eyes themselves are not rested and fresh looking.

Satin and Taffeta to Be Fall Favorites

Whether you choose a slim suit, an ensemble of dress and matching jacket, or a two piece affair that looks like a suit, you slide into satin if you know your fashions.

Black satin for town wear, the most sophisticated of fabrics, runs a merry race with taffeta for smartness. Black satin lolly contrasted with white makes the suits of the hour. You'll find all kinds of these snappy models, suave city slickers that dress you up like nothing else can. Black one piece dresses are rapidly taking the front place for popularity, especially the long sleeved costumes made with a peplum that ends where a smart short jacket would flare at the hipline of a suit skirt.

APPLES FORM BASE FOR MANY PRESERVES

Time Approaches for a "Fest" of Canning and Pickling

Apples are always the foundation of next winter's supply of jellies and preserves—there are so many ways in which apples may be used to advantage. Several recipes follow:

Gingered Apples

½ pound green ginger, scraped and cut small
Juice and shredded rind of 4 oranges and 3 lemons
8 pounds sugar
3 cups water
8 pounds apples, weighed after paring and coring.

Tie the ginger root in cheesecloth and simmer with the orange and lemon rind and water for one hour. Then add the sugar, orange and lemon juice and cook until the sugar is dissolved. Put in the apples, chopped coarsely, and cook very gently for about 1½ hours. Take out the ginger root, turn into small sterilized glasses and seal.

Mint Jelly

2 quarts apple jelly
1 large bunch mint—about 40 stalks
Green vegetable coloring—optional
2 tablespoons lemon juice
When the apple jelly is cooked to the jelling point, add to it the mint which has been washed, dried in a cloth and tied together for easy removal from the jelly. Allow to remain in the jelly for about three minutes, pressing with a spoon to bruise the leaves that their fragrance may be extracted. Add the coloring, if used, being careful not to overdo this. Stir in the lemon juice and turn into sterilized glasses, sealing as for any jelly. Serve in place of mint sauce with roast lamb or lamb chops.

Rose Geranium Jelly—In place of the mint, use three or four rose geranium leaves, extracting their flavor in the same ways as the mint.

Seaweed which grows as tall as California's redwood trees and sea plants which attain a height of about 300 feet are among the wonders of the deep seas, research of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography has revealed.

Some insect damage to plants resembles plant diseases so closely that wrong treatment is sometimes given for the trouble.

"IF" Governs The Position Of Salad

Many Hostesses Perplexed in Placing Salads and Forks

Colorful or dainty salads, often "make" the appearance of one's dinner table, providing the keynote for the color harmony. However, many a hostess' day is marred by her uncertainty as to where the salad plate should be placed. Should it be to the right or the left of the individual and what is the position of the salad fork?

The little word "if" with its modifying results governs the position of the salad.

If the hostess serves coffee with the main course of the dinner, naturally enough, it would be placed on the right. The coffee being on the right, there is no room for the salad, so it is placed to the left of the dinner plate. If, however, coffee is not served until later, the salad may feel perfectly at home occupying the position on the right.

There seem to be so many instances when the rules of etiquette are made without any apparent reason for them, and we follow them simply because we are told to. But this rule about the salads does seem to have some logic to it.

The salad fork is placed to the left of the dinner plate, next to the dinner fork, and immediately at its right.

Did You Ever Try These Recipes? Do, Please

Old-fashioned Apple Butter
Boll 10 gallons of sweet (apple) cider until reduced one-half, then add a few at a time, three pecks of pared, quartered and cored cooking apples. Stir constantly with a wooden utensil made for the purpose and let cook four or five hours. Add 10 pounds of sugar and five ounces of ground cinnamon and let cook again until quite thick, or until the mixture is like marmalade. Turn into sterilized glasses and seal. The wooden utensil used in stirring breaks up apples.

The exceptional popularity which Chevrolet has enjoyed for many years has naturally had its effect on Chevrolet prices. Large sales have enabled Chevrolet to maintain consistently low purchase prices, which were recently lowered even further. As a result Chevrolet now offers you the lowest priced six-cylinder automobile obtainable—a big, comfortable car with Fisher Body styling and refinement—safe, weatherproof, cable-controlled brakes—the smoothness and economy of a valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine—and typical Chevrolet dependability. In offering this car, and the Master models, at substantially lower prices, Chevrolet hopes to repay the motoring public in some measure, for consistently placing Chevrolet so high in public favor.

Sport Fans Await Gong For Lewis-Plummer Match

Waukegan Lou Sees "Big Chance" in Go with the "Strangler"

McMILLEN TAKES ON PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

A large percentage of Lake County's citizens will gather in Rencher's open-air arena at Round Lake tomorrow night, Friday, to see Lou Plummer, Waukegan's heavyweight mat ace, wrestle Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world's champion on the main event of the greatest wrestling card ever staged in this part of the state.

The match will probably be the most important athletic event held in this county in years and more than four thousand spectators are expected to be on hand.

Lou Plummer, the local boy who made good in professional wrestling, will be facing the greatest test in his career and although most of the mat dopesters throughout the country are of the opinion that the "Strangler" will emerge the victor, it is not unlikely that the biggest upset in wrestling history may take place.

This will be the last match in which Lewis will engage before his world's championship contest in Chicago, on the night of Sept. 20th against Jim Londos.

Besides this great attraction, matchmaker Les White has signed other world's title contenders for his preliminary matches.

Jim McMullen will get a chance to redeem himself for his fall at the hands of Lou Plummer on the last Round Lake card, when he meets "Crybaby" George Zaharias, the Colorado Greek in the semi-windup.

Another match that should keep the fans on the ends of their chairs early in the evening is the one in which Abie Coleman, the greatest Jewish grappler in the game, faces Hans Bauer, stocky German strong man.

The fourth bout on this super-card will feature that Chicago wrestling Adonis, "Gentleman" Jack Smith, from Post's Health Club. He will meet an up and coming future champion, Ned Sparks, a Missouri pig farmer.
